Once provided information about the rate of JobSeeker (including Coronavirus Supplement), is the rate what you expected?

$283 a week is hardly a liveable wage. Rent in most cases is that or nearly, the cost of everything is going up constantly. Life is certainly not easy on that amount of money.

Respondents in Fremantle think the base rate of JobSeeker should be:

If you only get this amount, it's only going to cover your clothes, food and accommodation. It won't cover insurance or medical care. It definitely won't cover preventative care. How are people meant to get well or be mentally fit for work?
